Per- and Polyfluoroalkyl Substances (PFAS)

PFAS refers to a broad range of thousands of materials with varying properties and characteristics, which may include high resistance to oil, water, temperature, chemicals, and fire, which makes certain PFAS critical to the functioning of many modern products.

Terms	Definitions
Contains*	Present based on composition information disclosed by 3M suppliers, analytical testing, or both.
Not known to contain*	1. Analytical measurement for presence is not currently available; 2. If measurement is possible, a) The material has not been identified or disclosed to 3M and b) The material has not been specifically quantified or detected; OR c) Based on information from raw material suppliers, possible presence as an impurity or by-product at or below regulatory thresholds (e.g., 0.1 or 0.01 %)
Intentionally added	Desired in the final product to provide a specific characteristic, appearance, or quality and/or to perform a specific function.
Not intentionally added	By-product(s), impurity(ies) and/or unintended artifact(s) resulting from the formulation and/or manufacture of a material.
By-product	A chemical substance produced without a separate commercial intent during the manufacture, processing, use, or disposal of another chemical substance or mixture.
Impurity	A chemical substance which is unintentionally present with another chemical substance (e.g., residuals, catalysts, process solvents).

Terms apply to the Chemicals and/or Compounds of Interest Section only (if section is present)*
Terms apply to the PFAS Section only (if section is present)*
Terms apply to both the Chemicals and/or Compounds of Interest and PFAS Sections (if section(s) are present)
